From the Principal's Desk

Summer vacation is approaching; seize the chance as it provides several advantages that enhance our general well-being.

Dear students, you will have a much-needed respite from the demands of the classroom. It's time to take a break and heal physically from the rigours of long-term study sessions and sitting. You won't experience anxiety or fatigue thanks to this downtime.

You may fortify your bonds by spending quality time with your loved ones. When it is feasible, travel. Interacting in new social settings improves our ability to adapt to others. Our viewpoints are expanded when we visit new locations and are exposed to various cultures, languages, and lifestyles. Novel experiences and a change of environment inspire originality and creativity.

We hope your holidays are filled with enjoyable experiences and adventures that create lasting memories. Have fun, read, exercise, and relax. After this break you will surely return to your studies with renewed focus and energy, better equipped to handle the demands of your educational journey.

Happy Holidays!

Triumphs Unveiled: The Pathway to Success"

In a world where the seeds of tomorrow are sown today, Orbis School has emerged as a beacon of excellence in preschool education. Nestled amidst vibrant blooms and echoing with the laughter of eager learners, this esteemed institution has recently been adorned with the crown of 'Best Pre-school for Holistic Development,' by the International School Awards (ISA) nurturing curiosity, creativity, and compassion in every child.

Flavours from our orchard

Beginning of a New Journey (1st and 2nd April)

It was an exciting new journey filled with fun, learning and endless adventures! The students stepped into their colourful and vibrant classrooms, overflowing with wonders and discoveries. It was normal to feel excited or nervous, but with the support of teachers and friends together, each one embarked on this magical journey successfully. This was the beginning of making beautiful memories, learning new things, and cherishing every moment.

Me and My Body (1st to 5th April)

Knowing yourself is the beginning of all wisdom."—Aristotle. During the week students of Pre Primary developed self-awareness by identifying and expressing aspects about themselves. Teachers explained the concept of identity, that each person is special and has their own name and characteristics. Children were encouraged to introduce themselves to their peers and teachers through songs and rhymes. The students participated enthusiastically and showed eagerness to know their friends, which made them feel at ease and confident for the new session. The Pre-primary students also learned about the major body parts through the mirror activity and learnt to appreciate and take care of their bodies by practicing good hygiene, eating healthy food, and staying active.

Know your class (8th to 12th April)

A classroom is a place with infinite knowledge, where the walls are lined with curiosity, every desk holds the potential for discovery and questions are not only encouraged, but also celebrated. Children learn from their surroundings, developing skills from everything they observe. The experience of belonging to one's classroom is special as students spend most of their time in the class. Children make friends and learn manners, etiquette, and many more things in a classroom. Students performed various activities like drawing their classroom in the drawing book and getting acquainted with every corner of their class, be it the reading corner, the colourful charts, or the digital board.

My School My Pride (15th to 19th April)

Know Your School serves as a program aimed at facilitating a seamless transition into the academic year. Its primary objective is to acquaint students with the school environment. Teachers conducted guided tours, leading students to essential areas of the school such as the playground, library, music room and sensory stations. Furthermore, teachers provided orientation sessions enlightening students about school routines and regulations. Students were engaged in an interactive activity like a scavenger hunt, wherein students decoded clues to locate specific areas that fostered a sense of exploration and familiarity. Additionally, students participated in an artistic endeavour, crafting drawings depicting the school's essence and, participated in meet-and-greet sessions, promoting camaraderie amongst peers.

Shaping the future (22nd to 26th April)

Good manners add to one's personality. They are a sign of strength. During this week teachers emphasised on the fact that good manners are essential in life as they help us to behave well in society. Good manners help us to win the hearts of people around us, thereby creating a unique personality. All this information was conveyed to the students through various role plays. Students sang the good manners song confidently and meticulously. These monitors were tasked with overseeing daily supervision, ensuring classroom and school discipline, and fostering a conducive learning environment where everyone feels safe.

I Know More, I Grow More

First Day of School (1st and 2nd April)

Students gathered with enthusiastic hearts to welcome the much-anticipated 2024–25 academic year. Excitement filled the air as friends reunited and new connections were made. New class teachers led engaging ice-breaking exercises, emphasizing the importance of school uniforms, adherence to the rules, and respect for all. With the introduction of new textbooks and assignment schedules, the day was brimming with excitement for the learning journey ahead. As the day came to an end, happiness lingered in the air, signalling a promising start to our academic year full of celebrations of learning and boundless possibilities.

Selection of Class Monitors (8th April)

Each one of us always wished to be a monitor during our school days, and so are our students. Each day they work hard to be the best, to claim the monitor badge. Monitorship comes with responsibilities that help students to think independently and positively. By managing this responsibility, these students foster teamwork and cooperation in the classroom. The students were so excited as the class teachers declared the class monitors for the first month of the new session. Monitor batches were given and duties were allotted to carry out routine supervisions and maintain order and discipline in class and school.

Commencement of Co-curricular club - Art/Craft Classes 1 and 2 (12th April)

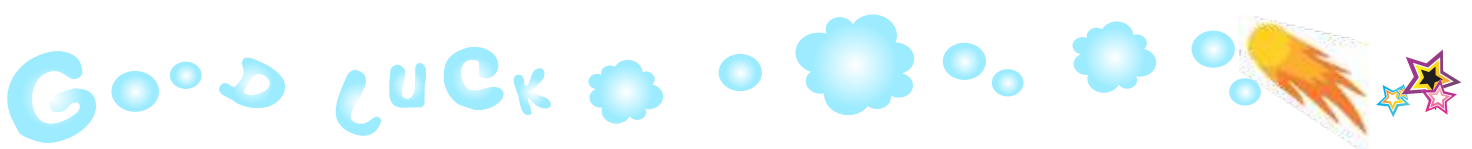

In a colourful burst of creativity, children immersed themselves in the rich traditions of African art during their CCA class. Inspired by the diverse cultures of Africa, they carefully studied traditional designs and motifs, each mask told a unique story of heritage and symbolism. Through this hands-on experience, the children not only honed their artistic skills but also gained a deeper appreciation for the cultural significance of African art. The classroom was adorned with a stunning array of vibrant masks, each a testament to the creativity and ingenuity of its young creator. With their newfound knowledge and pride in their work, the children left the class with a deeper understanding of the world and its diverse culture.

Commencement of Co-curricular Club(12th and 19th)

The new academic session brought exciting surprises, like the selection of CCA clubs. Students eagerly submitted their preferences via Google form after the announcement. With clubs ranging from Quiz, Nature, Interact, Enterprise, Archery, Public Speaking, Editorial, Heritage, Disaster Management, Dance, Needle, Fine Arts, and Music; there was something for everyone. Icebreaker exercises assisted teachers in determining students' interests and communicating learning objectives. With both students and teachers excited, it promises to be a year of fun learning.

World Earth Day (18th April)

The students of class 2 led the 'Save the Earth' movement on World Earth Day, through a special assembly and an awareness drive. With handmade posters clutched tightly in their hands and faces beaming with determination, they embarked on their mission to save the Earth. Chanting catchy slogans and spreading the message of environmental awareness, the students ensured that every class on the campus heard their message. Through this small but meaningful action, the students made a big impact on the school community and planted the seed of environmental stewardship in their peers and teachers alike. Hearts brimming with a sense of accomplishment, these young guardians, served as a beacon of hope for a greener, more sustainable future.

Club of the month

Storytelling Club Commences!

CCA activities begin with a gusto like no other. Students from classes 3 to 5 await with bubbling excitement for the CCA activities to start at the beginning of the academic year. The storytelling and public speaking clubs welcome their members with zeal. With student involvement of almost 65, the club is brimming with enthusiastic readers, book lovers, and dramatic narrators. For its first session, the students were given a brief run-down of the various activities planned for the club. It was followed by an ice-breaking activity for the students, to get acquainted with their fellow club members. The session ended with the students expressing their understanding of what storytelling and narration entail. Their energetic involvement promises some exciting CCA sessions ahead!

Fine Arts Club (6-9)

The Fine Arts Club has set out on a voyage of artistic exploration in just two sessions. Students have explored the complex technique of shading bookmarks using pencil colours, establishing the groundwork for the next steps. Each use of colour has shown our members' inventiveness to new heights, all under the patient direction of our facilitators. These first sessions have ignited a desire for artistic expression, from combining colours to mastering light and shadow. We look back on our journey's origins and are excited about the creative journeys that lay ahead. With one pencil stroke at a time, we get closer to realising the full potential of our creativity with every session.

Special Assemblies

Welcome Assembly (1st and 2nd April)

The first day of the new academic session was a resounding success! From eager students filled with excitement to dedicated faculty members ready to inspire, it was a day filled with promise and enthusiasm. The students were greeted with open arms, creating a welcoming atmosphere that set the tone for a fantastic year ahead. Motivational speeches and introductions from faculty members inspired students to embark on their academic journey with confidence and determination. With careful planning and organisation, transitions between classes, orientations, and activities went seamlessly, ensuring students felt supported at every step. From icebreaker games to orientation sessions, students had the opportunity to connect with peers, faculty, and staff, fostering a sense of community right from the start.

Media Fun Facts

The First YouTube Video: Did you know that the first-ever YouTube video was uploaded on April 23, 2005? It was titled "Me at the zoo" and featured co-founder Jawed Karim at the San Diego Zoo.

It's fascinating to think about how a simple clip of co-founder Jawed Karim at the San Diego Zoo kickstarted a global phenomenon that transformed how we consume and share video content online. From those humble beginnings, YouTube has grown into a powerhouse platform, hosting billions of videos covering everything from entertainment and education to news and activism. It's a testament to the power of innovation and the impact that a single idea can have on the world.

Our Green Ways

World Earth Day (22nd April)

Earth Day is a time to reflect on our planet's beauty, cherish its resources, and commit to protecting it for future generations. At The Orbis School, we believe in fostering environmental consciousness and taking action to make a positive impact on our planet. The special assembly was conducted by the students of every level to celebrate our planet and raise awareness about environmental issues. The creative talents of our students were showcased through artworks inspired by nature and environmental themes. Students planted saplings and sowed seeds in recycled containers. This symbolic act reinforced our commitment towards environmental conservation and encouraged active participation from our students in nurturing new life. Together, we can create a brighter future for generations to come!

Impressions and Expressions

A Tapestry of Human History
In the tapestry of time, ideologies weave their intricate threads,
From ancient whispers to modern echoes, shaping the paths we tread.
Confucian wisdom and Stoic resolve, foundations laid of old,
Inscribed with tales of virtue, tales of truth, tales yet untold.
Through ages vast, ideologies rise, responding to the call,
Challenging the norms, seeking justice for one and all.

Socialism's fervent cry, a beacon in the night,
Marxist dreams of equality, sparking flames of righteous might.
In the dance of nations, ideologies sway, casting shadows long,
Guiding hands, shaping lands, with melodies of right and wrong.
In their whispers, in their cries, the pulse of history beats,
A symphony of voices, shaping destinies, shaping feats.
In the labyrinth of time, ideologies endure,
Boundless, relentless, ever seeking to assure.
For in their essence lies the key, to unlock the mysteries untold,
Of human hearts, of human minds, of stories yet to unfold.

Echoes of Fear.....
The world looks at her
As she tears....
Afraid to try something new Talked into her newest fears
She demands admiration
Every whisper in her ears
Every little hallucination
Opposite of what she yearns
Hands gentle yet brave
Courage full heart
Yet locked up in a cage
After which she falls apart!

An Unexpected Journey

In the bus, I sat one day,
As it rumbled on its way,
But oh, the sights I came to see,
Made me laugh till I couldn't breathe.

First came a chicken, bold and fine,
Boarding with a ticket, my oh my!
Clucking and flapping down the aisle,
The passenger- puzzled, wearing a smile.
Next a mime with a handful of antics,
He had three suitcases,
It was a show of luggage acrobatics,
Stuck in his suitcase, oh what a sight!
Was his pet otter, who looked ready to bite.
Finally, a snoring man, asleep,
Singing a lullaby, thunderous and deep.
He snores a symphony, loud and clear,
An incredible bus comedy, oh dear!
So, if you find yourself on a bus one day,
Expect the unexpected, come what may,
For laughter lurks in every seat,
Making your journey oh so sweet!

Attitudes are Contagious.... Is Yours Worth Catching?

The story unfolds with a family of four embarking on a journey to climb Mount Everest. Young Jackson raises concerns about the extreme cold, but Lucia responds optimistically, suggesting they can manage with a teddy bear and leather jacket. The parents are inspired by their children's positivity despite their weak immune systems.

During the journey, the mother receives a call from her panicked friend, warning about the dangers of climbing with low oxygen levels. This triggers worry and chaos in the car, leading to an accident. However, undeterred, the family decides to continue on foot, fueled by their positive outlook.

Despite facing obstacles, they reach halfway up the mountain, where Lucia reflects on the power of their optimism. They eventually conquered Everest, proudly placing the Indian flag at the summit. Their journey inspires others to pursue their dreams despite risks, as Jackson remarks.

In essence, the story highlights the contagious nature of attitudes and how optimism can overcome challenges, ultimately leading to success and inspiration for others.

I Dream of a world
Where there is no fight, war and violence,
The world is together and altogether.

I dream of a world

Where we work for our environment by being gentle, cool and glee.

I dream of a world
Where all people will live together
and share the same boundaries,
All people are allowed to vote and take this all as an oath.

Little things mean a lot if they are done with a pure heart.

It's a humble feeling but it also serves as inspiration and motivation to harness those feelings and transform them into doing good for others. These little things, be they gestures, actions, or words, are the many small things that we do every day and that naturally express our hearts. They are not the result of calculations or intentions but are rather spontaneous expressions of what we feel moved to do. Moreover, small things in our lives help us stay present in the moment. When we focus on the small things, we are forced to slow down and pay attention to what's happening right now. This mindfulness helps us reduce stress and anxiety and stay connected to our surroundings. Taking small steps through a big project makes things infinitely more manageable. It's how suspension bridges get built. If we each do something small, the collective tally will be great.

Have fun learning French!

Quand un peu signifie beaucoup

Les petites choses comptent beaucoup si elles sont faites avec un cœur pur. C'est un sentiment d'humilité, mais cela sert également d'inspiration et de motivation pour exploiter ces sentiments et les transformer en faisant du bien aux autres.

Ces petites choses, qu'il s'agisse de gestes, d'actions ou de paroles, sont les nombreuses petites choses que nous faisons chaque jour et qui expriment naturellement notre cœur. Ils ne sont pas le résultat de calculs sous d'intentions mais sont plutôt des expressions spontanées de ce que nous ressentons poussé à faire.

En plus, les petites choses de notre vie nous aident à rester présents dans l'instant présent. Lorsque nous concentrons sur les petites choses, nous sommes obligés de ralentir et de prêter attention à ce qui se passe en ce moment. Cette pleine conscience nous aide à réduire le stress et l'anxiété et à rester connectés à notre environnement.

Faire de petits pas dans un grand projet rend les choses infiniment plus gérables. C'est ainsi que les ponts suspendus sont construits. Si nous faisons chacun quelque chose de petit, le résultat collectif sera super.

William Shakespeare: Master of the Written Word

William Shakespeare, affectionately known as the Bard of Avon, is celebrated as one of the most influential figures in world literature. Born in Stratford-upon-Avon, England, in 1564. His legacy rests primarily on his plays and poetry, which continue to be studied, performed and revered across the globe. His body of work includes approximately 39 plays, 154 sonnets and two long narrative poems, spanning a wide range of genres from tragedy and comedy to history and romance.

What distinguishes Shakespeare's writing is its unparalleled depth, complexity and universality. His keen insight into human nature, combined with his mastery of language and dramatic structure, allows his works to resonate with audiences of all ages and cultures. From the timeless tragedy of "Hamlet" to the enchanting romance of "Romeo and Juliet," Shakespeare's plays explore themes of love, jealousy, ambition, betrayal and the human condition with unparalleled eloquence and depth.

Moreover, Shakespeare's contribution to the English language cannot be overstated. He coined countless words and phrases that are still in use today, demonstrating his innovative linguistic prowess and enduring impact on the evolution of English literature. Despite living over four centuries ago, Shakespeare's relevance endures, with his works continuing to inspire countless adaptations, interpretations, and scholarly analyses. His plays remain fixtures in theatre repertoires worldwide, captivating audiences with their timeless themes and profound insights into the human experience.

In essence, William Shakespeare's enduring legacy lies not only in the brilliance of his writing but also in his ability to capture the essence of the human spirit with unparalleled eloquence and insight, ensuring his place as one of the greatest literary figures of all time.

Virtue Alone Ennobles

In a world where differences can often divide people, the concept of unity stands as a beacon of hope, guiding us toward a brighter future. Unity denotes the presence of cooperation, understanding, and mutual respect among individuals and communities. Unity is not merely the absence of conflict, it's about recognising our shared humanity and embracing diversity. One of the most powerful aspects of unity is its ability to bridge divides and foster empathy. Unity plays a crucial role in building a resilient community. In times of need, it is our collective unity that sustains and helps us rebuild. By standing side by side with our neighbours, we can overcome adversity and emerge stronger than before. Unity fosters a sense of belonging and inclusion. When individuals feel valued and respected, they are more likely to actively contribute and participate in shaping the world around them. This sense of belonging nurtures a shared purpose and ignites passion for creating a better future for all.

Child Psychology and Special Education Workshop (6th April)

An in-house session on Child Psychology and Special Education was conducted as part of the continuous professional development of the teaching faculty at Orbis. The workshop was conducted by our School's team of Academic Counsellors. Lydia Fernandes and Special Educator-Ms. Neeta Sant. The session focused on empowering teachers to understand the students' concerns, assisting them in guiding the students to deal with their social, emotional, and behavioural concerns. It also highlighted the importance of special education and counselling by professionals, various strategies designed to cater to the requirements of students with special needs. It was a highly beneficial session as it facilitated identifying problems, empathising with our students, and offering them effective support and guidance.

Learning by Doing-Workshop (29th April)

At Orbis, we consider experiential learning as one of the best methods of teaching. The students learn with the help of interactive teaching aids specially designed concept-wise to facilitate a better understanding of the concepts. To encourage learning by doing, a workshop by Yardstick was conducted for our teaching staff on 29th April with an aim to empower our teachers to be able to integrate the lesson well with their interactive teaching aids. This will help our students to comprehend the concept well, encourage critical thinking, and problem-solving, and enable students to analyse and apply the newly learned concept.

Thus, the students will be better prepared to face the challenges of the outside world.

From the Editorial Team:

Honesty: The Foundation of Integrity

In a world often filled with complexity and ambiguity, honesty remains a timeless virtue that guides our interactions and shapes our character. Embracing honesty as the best policy is not merely a moral principle but a pragmatic approach to living a meaningful and fulfilling life.

When we prioritise honesty, we cultivate trust and authenticity in our relationships. Transparency fosters genuine connections, deepening bonds with others and creating a sense of mutual respect and understanding.

Furthermore, honesty builds a foundation of integrity within ourselves. By aligning our words with our actions, we uphold our values and principles, earning self-respect and the respect of others.

While the temptation to deceive may arise in challenging situations, honesty ultimately leads to peace of mind and a clear conscience. It allows us to navigate life with integrity, knowing that our choices are guided by truth and sincerity.

In essence, honesty serves as a guiding light in both our personal and professional lives, illuminating the path towards authenticity, trust, and ethical conduct.

Thought for the month

"As the warmth of May heralds the arrival of summer, let us bask in the light of new beginnings and endless possibilities. Let us sow the seeds of kindness, embrace the beauty of change, and embark on journeys of self-discovery with courage and optimism. May this month be a time of growth, joy, and abundant blessings for us all."
